Allison Raley is an associate in the Litigation section of Wick Phillips, focusing on commercial business litigation and providing counsel to clients involved in a wide variety of civil disputes. Allison has significant experience in complex real estate and construction disputes both commercial and residential. She is passionate about ensuring her clients feel comfortable and secure throughout the entirety of their working relationship with Allison.

Throughout her legal career, Allison has been dedicated to providing pro bono legal service both nationally and internationally and regularly represents indigent clients that would otherwise be unable to seek protection through the legal system. If she is not in the office, you will find Allison with her twin daughters around Watermark Community Church or on the golf course.
