Greg Fijolek is a partner in the corporate section of Wick Phillips. He focuses his practice on corporate/securities, private equity, mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, private securities offerings, and general corporate matters. He regularly advises registered and unregistered investment advisers with respect to investment management activities and the formation, structuring, marketing, and operation of private investment funds.

Greg has experience representing clients in the formation, structuring and operation of operating companies, holding companies, joint ventures, private investment funds, and other entities. He advises and represents fund sponsors and other clients in connection with various securities law matters, including compliance with federal and state laws applicable to private offerings, private investment funds, and registered and unregistered investment advisers and other securities laws along with private equity firms, family offices, real estate owners, real estate developers, and operating companies in structuring, negotiating, and documenting acquisitions, dispositions, joint ventures, preferred equity investments, capital raising and private placements. Institutional investors seek his representation in their investments and co-investments into hedge funds, private investment funds, real estate funds, and other investment products.
